Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The University of Colorado Studies, Vol. 5 Among the conspicuous features in modern progress none is more important than specialization. This is the era of specialists. In all lines of activity success comes to the man who has had the benefit of special training and has attained excellence in his line of work. Division of labor, which has created specialists, can be employed to some extent in all industries. It has been adopted more generally in industrial affairs than in government, yet there is a pronounced tendency to secure the services of specialists in the administration of the government of the United States. The report of the Industrial Commission was very largely the work of men specially trained in the subjects investigated by that body. This is what gives it its great authority and impartial tone. One of the largest fields for the effective service of the specialist is in the assistance he can render to the men charged with making a states or nations laws. With the increase in the activities of government, both state and national, the difficulties that beset the lawmaker tend greatly to increase. Formerly the legislator had to be posted on a few fundamental subjects only; there was not much wealth, and what there was was more or less uniformly distributed, so that taxation was a simple matter; corporations had not been born; there was no labor problem. All this is changed. Government must now concern itself with minute and detailed social, economic and industrial affairs. Laws must be passed to regulate the quality of food, to prevent child labor and to prohibit the manipulation of our credit institutions. A...
